Office Moves

An office move generally starts out exciting, then the panic sets in when you realise you have to figure out and prepare how to move your current IT into a shiny new office. This is where Tiva can help.

Whether you're looking to increase, consolidate, refresh or move your office location, Tiva can project manage all your IT needs.

How do office moves with Tiva work?
Tiva will complete a full project plan of your office move from the start, detailing key areas and responsibilities for those involved. We will liaise with various third party installations, and internet service providers. All work is clearly explained and agreed prior to commencement.

Once the office move is in motion Tiva can help disconnect and reconnect your computers and servers as well as provide structured work cabling to your new offices. The broadband speed of the new office will depend on the provider and where the new office is located.

Timescale
There are many variables within an office move that change the time necessary for the move, however, we aim to help get your broadband up and running in your new office as quickly as possible.

Pricing
Pricing for the move and new cabling requirements are available upon request.

FAQ's

- Do Tiva move the office equipment?

Tiva are not able to move the office equipment for you, so you will need to arrange an external removals company for this.

If new hardware is required, we can arrange for it to be delivered to the new site. Your own dedicated technical account manager will be able to set up and install this.

- Are you able to help dispose of old and unwanted IT equipment?

Yes, Tiva can help to dispose of old and unwanted IT equipment. We want to take away any hassle and allow your business to focus on other parts of the office move.

- Can you provide more help for IT systems after the move?

Tiva have worked with many organisations assisting them with their IT systems for a number of years. We can partner closely with you, offering you the best technology for your needs and budget.